

Quote of the Day-First Quarter

September 3 & 4

Afghan—

The jungle will not be without a tiger.

September 5 & 6

Egyptian—

A small house will hold a hundred friends.

September 9 & 10

Madagascan—

Men don't all go one road.

September 11 & 12

Turkish—

In the shelter of a single tree a thousand sheep will collect.

September 13 & 16

Nigerian—

Bush cows are not to be feared when they are moving in a herd.

September 17 & 18

Hebrew—

Buttered bread falls on its face.

September 19 & 20

Armenian—

Can one fast with the cake in his hand?

September 23 & 24

Latin—

Seven's a banquet, nine's a brawl

September 25 & 30

Surinamese—

The ear is nothing more than a door.

October 1 & 2

Arabic—

He who has no spoon burns his hand.

October 3 & 4

Turkish—

Golden words open an iron door.

Quote of the Day-First Quarter

October 7 & 8

Zulu—

The sun never sets without fresh news

October 9 & 10

Moroccan—

He became a raisin before he was a grape

October 11 & 14

Kenyan—

The dog's god is the bit of food that falls to the ground

October 15 & 16

Mesopotamian—

Fruit is scarce where leaves are most abundant.

October 17 & 18

Zanzibari—

Thieves have no smell.

October 21 & 22

Syrian—

The clever rooster crows from the egg.